By: Bongani Radebe

In July 2018, the National Agricultural Marketing Council (NAMC) took an initiative by giving the Dimani Agricultural High School learners for career guidance.

“Youth-Agriculture programme sees learners as the future leaders” said the CEO of NAMC, Mr Xalisa as he opened and welcomed the learners.

The event was to mainly share all the relevant information to the learners about the various fields in agriculture and the qualifications required at the later stage. During the career guidance workshop NAMC employees further shared their personal experiences from the tertiary level, their growth in their chosen career paths, and gave motivational talks. Presenters namely; Dr. Ndumiso Mazibuko, Lucius Phaleng and Elekanyani Nekhavhambe, Pamela Shoyisi and coordinated by Tshilidzi Netswinganani.

The NAMC in close collaboration with AgriSETA designed the programme to enhance the agriculture sector’s corporate career offerings and to promote skills development. NAMC believes in great talent and fully supports education as they utilized the 67 minutes to share important information with tomorrow’s future for the better.
